

Port Phillip Estate Pinot Noir Nouveau 2018 – Reviews

Wine Front, October 2019

Gary Walsh

Spice dusted strawberries, pepper too, a little of that Australian bush after the rain thing I often smell in wines from this estate. Bright, sappy, crunchy, light tannin, there's even a slight spritz here, then a fresh and tangy finish of moderate length. Goes down well. Good feel to it.

91 points